EMPTY BOTTLES TELL OF BOOZE IN WASHINGTON

Request That Officials Take
Oath To Enforce Dry Law
Reveals Scandal

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1922 by the Post Pub. Co.
Washington — Representative Upshaw's speech calling upon all officials of the United States government as well as the governors of the several states of the union to take the dry oath themselves has tended to bring out into the open one of the most perplexing phases of the entire prohibition question.

For it is an open secret that although prohibition is the law of the land and the national capital is the center of law enforcement and respect for the statutes, the use of liquors in private parties attended by officials high and low is not frowned upon. There is a clash between public duty and private sentiment.

CHALLENGES OFFICIALS

Mr. Upshaw of Georgia is the first to challenge the attitude of officials which seeks to impose the prohibition law in the abstract sense while countenancing the use of liquor privately. No intoxicants are served on the tables of high officials in any public functions but as the Washington Post, an administration newspaper, said not long ago "A census shows there are about 500 bootleggers in the District of Columbia and now if we could only have a census of their private consumers," the fact of considerable drinking of intoxicants is not denied.

But the law doesn't prohibit drinking. Officials who use liquors can very well say there is no restriction in the constitution or the statutes against the use of liquors or even their purchase but simply their manufacture and sale. The question raised by Mr. Upshaw of Georgia is that officials should, however, set an example and refuse to buy any liquors. So far as stopping the bootlegger trade the cutting off of the national capital's supply of illicitly sold liquors would be a mere trifle in the matter of the bootlegging trade of the country.

The theory of Mr. Upshaw and the other dries who do not like to see government officials drinking at all is that they will be better able to enforce the law if they privately believe in it.

BRYAN REAL DRY

William Jennings Bryan is one of the few who have been in official life not only to champion the dry cause publicly but to practice what he preached. He used to keep a book on hand so that any of his friends could sign the dry pledge whenever the impulse moved them. It has frequently been charged that of the so-called dries in the house and senate who voted for the Volstead act as well as the eighteenth amendment, many have kept a private supply of liquor since in their homes or in their offices. One local newspaper not so long ago won a good deal of ill will on Capitol Hill by publishing photographs of empty liquor bottles carried away from congressional buildings by the garbage man from time to time. There are, of course, hundreds of employees in the capitol other than those who have a vote and there is no certainty that any or all bottles came from the legislators themselves.

New York—Harry Sinclair, arrested as a burglary suspect, has been identified by his heart throbs.

Thinking the prisoner's description tallied with that given by Dr. Henry Moeller of the man who last Sunday night entered his office as a patient and beat and robbed him, police sent for Dr. Moeller. Assisted by his son, also a physician, Dr. Moeller examined Sinclair with a stethoscope and declared the prisoner's heart beat was the same as that of the man he examined in his office on Sunday.

Sinclair, who said he was an actor, was identified also by Dr. Moeller's two daughters, Anita and Marie, as the man they saw in their father's office Sunday night.

Find Bodies Of Kidnaped Louisiana Men

Mysterious Men Try To Get Corpses

By Associated Press
Shreveport, La.—The bodies of two men in high state of decomposition believed to be Daniels and Richards, missing victims of the Morehouse mob of last August, were found Friday morning near the Eastland Ferry La. Fourche, which separates Morehouse and Richland parishes, according to the special correspondent of the Shreveport Journal. The limbs of the dead men were tied with wire. They came to the surface as the result of a big charge of dynamite, exploded Thursday night by unidentified persons.

The bodies were nude except for belts and a portion of trousers. One man's head was gone. It is thought that those who used the explosive left without knowing the bodies had come to the surface.

The Journal's correspondent arrived at the Ferry this morning en route on a trip across the lake. The ferryboat had broken from its moorings and drifted a considerable distance down stream. The bank near where the boat was accustomed to landing was badly torn up. Many dead fish were on the surface of the water.

The nearest point where soldiers were reported stationed is said to be several miles from the place of the dynamiting.

Owing to the condition of the bodies it is believed it will be difficult to remove them; also that identification will be difficult unless there are marks on the belts.

TROOPS RUSH TO SCENE

Mer Rouge, La.—It was reported here Friday morning that the bodies of two missing men, believed to have been victims of hooded men last August had been brought to the surface by fishermen in LaFourche lake, 12 miles from here. Military detachments in automobiles was immediately dispatched to the place.

The national guard company rushed to the lake at about 8 o'clock Friday morning to investigate the reports of the presence of men wading in the water that was being explored for the bodies of two missing men believed to have been the victims of hooded men, returned here shortly after 8 o'clock.

Captain Cooper announced that the men fired on by the guards had disappeared.

It was thought the men were attempting to remove the bodies of Wilt Daniels and Thomas Richards and that particular part of the lake was given special attention by the explorers later Friday.

SEE TRIANGLE CAUSED DEATH OF GOLD MINER

Hunt For "Silent Stranger" From Alaska As "Pal" Of Man Killed On Train

By Associated Press
Racine.—Out of mystery surrounding the death of Matt Jaanus who was taken from a train at Corlies last Saturday with his throat cut, Friday came the theory that a love affair, extending across the two continents to Alaska and back to Racine may lie at the bottom of the supposed murder.

This theory took definite shape when it was learned that a "silent man" just returned from Alaska where he had spent 16 years in the quest of gold, had disappeared from his hotel here just before Jaanus was taken, with his throat cut, from a train at Corlies.

The mystery man had spent several weeks at the hotel and his confidantes had gathered from disconnected scraps of information that he had been in Alaska, that he was waiting here for a pal who was to join him in a return trip to his native Finland.

The stranger gave a name, which police assert was fictitious. He had come here from a town near Milwaukee, he said, because "somebody" watched him too closely. The man had plenty of money and nuggets in considerable quantity, as well as jewels.

But the most remarkable thing, which his few acquaintances noted, was the photograph of a beautiful woman, which adorned the walls of his room at the hotel five minutes after his arrival. It seemed to be his one cherished possession.

Police here are now in communication with authorities at Fairbanks, Alaska, attempting to obtain further information about the stranger who told friends here that he had mined for gold for many years at Nanana, a few miles from Fairbanks.

HOLIDAY BUSINESS BREAKING RECORDS

Merchants All Over The State
Jubilant Over Great Christmas Trade

By Associated Press
Milwaukee—Almost every city in Wisconsin is reporting Christmas business of record proportions. The volume of business probably will exceed any year since the end of the war, reports indicate. In several cities, buying was late in getting started but the cold wave last week stimulated the trade to a marvelous extent.

Green Bay merchants are experiencing one of the most profitable business in four years. The trade is in excess of 1919, 1920 and 1921, the association of commerce reports. Superior says better economic conditions have caused a 30 per cent increase in sales and LaCrosse merchants say the buying this year will break all previous records.

The buying season in Oshkosh is about completed and merchants are well satisfied with the volume of business. Racine and Kenosha dealers are almost unanimous in declaring their sales among the largest in history and Madison merchants assert that Christmas business has exceeded expectations. In Janesville, Wisconsin Rapids and Wausau merchants are jubilant over the holiday sales.

All the cities report less demand for expensive luxuries and larger sales of staples. There has been a noticeable demand for the better grade of articles, however. One firm in Kenosha reported selling 20 radio sets costing more than $250 each.

Milwaukee merchants estimate that their holiday business will represent an increase of from 25 to 40 per cent over a year ago. Shoppers, it is estimated, will spend between twelve and fifteen million dollars. Crowds in some of the stores have been so great that it has been necessary to lock the doors until congestion could be relieved.

Merchants in Appleton are well satisfied with this holiday business. Sales the last three or four days have been exceedingly large and stores have been crowded. The cold wave, followed by more moderate weather has given great impetus to sales. The excellent condition of the roads has made it possible for farmers to get in for heavy Christmas shopping this year. Sales in Appleton will compare favorably with the rest of the state.

'Grandpa' Shoots Child In Play, Dies On Grave

By Associated Press
New York—Two men hurried along the quiet paths in Greenlawn cemetery on Thursday, bent for the grave of a little girl. One was a detective, the other a relative of the little girl.

They turned in the path and saw the grave. On it was sprawled the body of an old man, a bullet through the temple. A pistol, one cartridge gone, lay beside him.

Neither of the men spoke, but as the detective, unconsciously professional, picked up the pistol, his companion stared at the body quietly, not seeing. Instead, a picture of his home, one night months ago, came to him.

Six year old Emma Fuchs had dressed as a gypsy, to give "grandpa" some fun when he came home. Grandpa knocked at the door, and Emma scurried beneath the table.

Grandpa came in, and smiling, counterfeited fear at the little stranger who popped from beneath the table. To add to the acting, he playfully pointed a pistol he had picked from a dresser, at the little gypsy.

When the police came, grandpa was holding Emma, the "little gypsy," in his arms. She was dead.

The man standing by the grave saw the drama again, and he saw grandpa as he had been since that day and especially since the shops had begun to display dolls and other juvenile Christmas gifts, moody and brooding.

Then the man by the grave, Charles Fuchs, leaned over and softly touched his father's cold hand, while the detective prepared to report "a suicide in Greenlawn cemetery."

FIRE DESTROYS RAIL STATION AT CHICAGO

Flames Wipe Out Dearborn-st
Terminal—Eight Roads
Homeless

Chicago—Fire Thursday afternoon destroyed the Dearborn railroad station, formerly known as the Polk street depot and left eight railroads homeless in Chicago.

The building was valued at $300,000, but would cost more than $1,000,000 if replaced.

HUNDREDS MAKE ESCAPE

Hundreds of passengers and 200 men and women clerks fled to safety. Mrs. Hazel Locker, 26, a woman clerk, fainted and was tampered on by the wild rush of girls from the upper floors. A policeman found her lying unconscious on the stairs and carried her out.

USED BY MANY LINES

The station was owned by the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad, and was used by trains of that line, and the Santa Fe, Monon, Erie, Chesapeake and Ohio, Chicago and Eastern Illinois, Wabash and Canadian Grand Trunk.

Fire apparatus from every outlying station was summoned by a steady succession of general alarms, only to find that holiday shoppers and traffic had blocked the streets for a half mile from the station. Many firemen had to turn from the flames to assist police in fighting back the crowds of onlookers.

Poor water pressure hampered the firemen. Their streams barely reached the base of the main clock tower, and they were powerless to do more than protect nearby buildings.

LET SPUDS ROT; PRICES TOO LOW

Twelve Million Bushels Left In Ground By Red River Valley Farmers

Chicago—Decreased acreage, better marketing plans increased storage facilities and new markets, are being considered by middle western farmers who lost money raising potatoes this year, according to a summary of the situation in five potato raising states.

The five states, Michigan, Kansas, Nebraska, North Dakota and Minnesota, raised approximately 100,000,000 bushels of potatoes this year, but reports from most sections indicate the growers lost money.

LACK FACILITIES

The reason is variously ascribed to over production, crop shortage and lack of storage facilities.

Twelve million bushels of potatoes remain rotting in the Red River valley of Minnesota, according to O. B. Jacobson, chairman of the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission. He blames the crop shortage and says the crop will freeze or rot in the ground unless transportation is speedily provided. The enormous potential loss here does not include losses being sustained in other parts of the state.

North Dakota farmers raised 20,000,000 bushels this year, an increase of 9,000,000 since 1921. Several towns have built large storage warehouses to handle the surplus and at Minot a large starch factory is planned to turn part of the crop into its principal by-products.

MICHIGAN LEADS

Michigan which led the country as a potato producing state, according to 1920 census, produced 37,856,000 bushels this year, an increase of 10,600,000 bushels. But the price dropped from an average of 35 cents a bushel in 1921 to 55 cents this year.

To meet the situation state agricultural officials advise Michigan farmers to devote more attention to raising seed potatoes which command a better price than the commercial grades.

Growers who sold their crop late in July or early in August, got as high as $2.50 a hundred pounds giving a profit of about $1 a hundred. Some held on and lost money when the price went below $1.50.

Many sold for as low as 75 cents a hundred.

BRANDS CONFESSION OF SAILSTAD SLAYING "BUNK"

Superior—In my opinion, it is all bunk," said District Attorney Robert E. Kennedy when asked his opinion of the confession of Edward J. Kingston, in which Kingston declared that Edward J. Sailstad had been unintentionally murdered in a cottage at Lake Nebagamon while he and members of a gang were trying to rob Sailstad of his money.

"I have known of the so called confession for about two months," he declared. "And I believe there is nothing in it."

Asked if there would be any investigation of the alleged confession he declared that none would be made.

SEYLER SUBSIDIES PLAN TO REORGANIZE SOON

Typewriter Made Her Cripple, She Says; Asks Pay

Fond du Lac—A new point in industrial compensation—the question of the possibility of constant use of a typewriter causing paralysis of stenographers hands—was raised in a hearing before an investigator of state industrial commission.

The claim for compensation was brought by Edith Wood of Waupun. The claimant, according to her statements has been employed by a Waupun concern for 12 years. During that time she has been working 9 hours a day, of which at least six have been spent in the operation of large billing typewriter. The remainder of her time she spent in taking dictation or similar work.

Miss Wood asserted the instant operation of the machine, which is unusually heavy has affected a partial paralysis of her left hand. This brings up for decision a new question in industrial liability.

INVITE PUBLIC TO LOOK OVER BRIDGE PLANS

Council Giving Careful Consideration To Plans For New Structures

Visitors at the council meeting Thursday evening joined the aldermen in studying the plans for the proposed Lawest and Cherry-st bridges. Business of the council, which was in session as a committee of the whole, was more or less informal, and citizens present in the council chamber were invited to look over the plans and ask questions.

It was evident that proponents of both the Lake-st and Cherry-st viaducts had appeared at the meeting, some out of curiosity and some with a more vital interest. Discussions did not develop into any arguments, however.

WILL MEET AGAIN

Study of the plans will be resumed by the common council at another committee of the whole meeting subject to call of Chairman J. F. Lapen before the next regular council meeting, Jan. 3. It is probable that the bridge meeting will be held the evening or afternoon previous and that it will be attended by one of the firm of Harrington, Howard & Ash, Kansas City, consulting engineers.

Meanwhile the blue print plans of the bridges will repose in the offices of the city clerk and city engineer. They are not only open to the inspection of the public, but persons interested in the bridges are invited to examine the plans.

NO ESTIMATES HERE

No estimate of the cost of either bridge was available Thursday evening, though the estimates given last summer when the price of steel was somewhat lower than it is now. The estimates then for the bare bridges without the cost of approaches and right of way, etc., were $150,000 for the Cherry-st viaduct and $45,000 for the Lawest bridge. It is expected that the combined projects will reach a cost of a little more than $200,000.

A description of the two bridges was printed in last Monday's issue of the Post-Crescent. Consideration of the plans revealed a few more details that are of interest.

GUNS BARK IN CAR; 2 THUGS, MAN HURT

By Associated Press
Superior—Passengers of a crowded street car, many of them late Christmas shoppers, huddled behind seats and on the floor of the vehicle for safety Thursday night as bullets whizzed past them during a gun battle between Carl Halberg, former deputy sheriff and now a special railroad agent and two unidentified assailants.

The two thugs, who believed they were squaring a grudge debt with a local policeman, were both wounded and Halberg's skull was laid open during the affair on the rear vestibule.

One of the men was wounded in the leg, the other in the head. Both died profusely but escaped. Police are watching hospitals for trace of them.

DEFENSE OPENS CASE IN HERRIN RIOT TRIAL

London — Witnesses from a list of several hundred were in court Friday to testify in defense of five men on trial for murder. The state rested its case Thursday afternoon.

A. W. Kerr, counsel for defense said he would seek to prove that the accused men could have had no part in the killings. He also asserted that the defense would seek to impeach testimony given by several state's witnesses that they had seen the defendants with guns the day of the rioting or had seen the shooting at some of the victims.

Under the Illinois law there are no degrees of murder and the jury will be compelled to return a separate verdict for each of the defendants and also, if it finds them guilty, to fix the penalty, ranging from one year's imprisonment to death.

A recess will be taken over the holidays until Jan. 2 the court has stated.

Last Appeal To Hearts Of Good Fellows

Christmas Fund For Poor Is $400 Short Of Reaching
$1,500 Goal

Good Fellows, this will be the last appeal to your generosity. Collections will cease on Saturday and the money will be given immediately to the five charities which are dispensing Good Fellows' bounty. These five organizations — The Salvation Army, German Ladies Aid society, Jewish Ladies Aid society, City Relief society and the Ladies Auxiliary of the Catholic Order of Foresters — will share in the funds in proportion to the number of families they are taking care of. Baskets for delivery to the homes of the poor on Saturday and Sunday are being filled. The women are guiding their expenditures by the generosity of Appleton's Good Fellows. The more money that is made available for their use the more families can be taken care of.

Baskets for these destitute families are not being filled with trinkets and gew-gaws. Every family that is receiving help has been investigated and will receive only what it needs most. If the family's greatest need is shoes, stockings and underclothing for the children, that is what it will get. Santa Claus will give those poor youngsters what they need most. Of course every family will be given a Christmas dinner of substantial food. There will be no waste. There are too many families in want to give to any one more than it needs. Toys will be included, if possible, for families in which there are young children so these tiny tots will have some of the Christmas joy which should be the birthright of every child.

The Good Fellows fund at noon today was $1,100. That is $400 short of the amount which the five cooperating societies said would be necessary to provide all the destitute families with something to be happy over on Christmas day. You have all day tomorrow to make your contribution to this cause. Won't you stop long enough in your Christmas rush to remember the poor kids, the tired, haggard mothers for who Christmas

Washington.—The question of America extending aid toward the solution of the economic troubles of Europe has been brought sharply to the front with the meeting of a plan under which an American commission would determine what Germany should pay the Allies in reparations.

The proposal has been discussed outside the formal channels of diplomacy but an understanding in authoritative circles has been developed through an exchange of views that the United States, Great Britain and Germany are willing to assent to the creation of such a commission. Premier Poincare of France, now has the plan before him and is expected to make a decision when he has concluded a series of conferences with industrial leaders of France and of Germany.

BODY IS FOUND BURIED UNDER CHICKEN COOP

Grandparents Of Child Admit
Interring Week Old Infant In Back Yard

Admission of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Burk, Third-st. Kaukauna, that they had buried the infant child of their daughter, Etta Burk, 20, beneath a chicken coop in their back yard has led to an investigation by the district attorney's office in the cause of the child's death. According to Mr. Burk, the child died eight or nine days after birth. The body was exhumed on Thursday and now is in a Kaukauna undertaking establishment.

The child was born Dec. 1, according to the grandfather, Joseph W. LaFevre, Kaukauna city attorney, visited the home on Dec. 2 to learn the name of the child's father but the mother's condition was so precarious that he postponed his investigation. A week later the grandfather called at the attorney's office and said that the child was "being cared for" and that the charges against the baby's father would not be pressed.

Death of the child was not discovered until the physician who was attending the mother asked about the baby's condition and was told that it had died. The grandparents said the body had been buried in Appleton but they could not produce the burial permit. R. H. McCarty, chief of police at Kaukauna, was notified and began an investigation which resulted in the grandparents' admission that the body was buried in the chicken coop.

Physicians who examined the body were reluctant to express an opinion as to the cause of death but it is known they are fixing on the theory that starvation was the reason.

District Attorney Fred V. Heinemann was notified and a searching investigation was ordered. Mr. Heinemann, with District Attorney-elect John A. Lonsdorf are at Kaukauna this afternoon obtaining depositions from persons who have a connection with the case. It was said the next step will depend on what the investigation developed.

FORD ANNOUNCES EXPANSION PROGRAM

Officials Announce

Detroit — Henry Ford's decision to construct a $6,000,000 plant near Chicago for the building of automobile bodies and assembling of automobiles is only a step in a gigantic program on the part of the Ford Motor company "that will rank as one of the greatest industrial developments the world ever has seen," it was stated at the Ford company offices here by persons in authority.

"As long as Mr. Ford lives," it was said, "this expansion program is to go on. The fundamental idea back of the whole scheme is to create more jobs. As long as there is a possibility of putting more men at work the Ford policy will be to build more plants."

The Chicago project includes the erection on a 70 acre tract at Hegewisch, on the Calumet river, and Nixie plant, each unit of which will cost $1,500,000. Sixteen thousand men will be employed at the start. The first unit is to be in operation by next May, according to Chicago advice confirmed Friday at the Ford offices here.

The peak of the volume of Christmas mailing probably was reached Thursday when a new record for the number of first class articles mailed was set.

The amount of standard size letters and cards began to climb to unusual heights on Tuesday, when 31,336 passed through the automatic stamping and counting machine. The next day the mark of 39,816 was reached. On Thursday the amount was 47,410 which is probably the greatest number ever received at the local postoffice in one day. The average number is about 18,000. The amounts given do not include the number of odd-sized articles of first class mail that have to will be a dreary disappointment if they are not helped? You can't blame these kids, these women, for their deplorable condition. The youngsters weren't given a chance to pick their parents. Still they are normal children, with the same desires, the same rights as your own youngsters. It seems a pity that these innocents should be denied even the pleasures of Christmas while other children have more than they need.

Unless the Good Fellow fund is boosted to $1,500 there is the probability that there will be families in Appleton on Christmas day that are not taken care of. None of us want that to happen. It won't happen if every reader of this article who hasn't already made a Good Fellow of himself will fill in the coupon printed on this page and send it at once to the Good Fellow Club Editor of The Post-Crescent. INJURIES AND ILLNESS POSTPONE FAMILY REUNION

The family reunion which Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schuetter were planning for Christmas day has been postponed until a later date because Mrs. George Schuetter of Chicago fractured her arm in an automobile accident and because of the illness of her 3-year-old son, George, Jr., who is stricken with typhoid fever.

Mrs. Schuetter fractured her arm about a week ago when she and Mr. Schuetter were thrown from their automobile. In order to avoid colliding with another car, Mr. Schuetter headed for the ditch and struck a stump covered with leaves. Both he and Mrs. Schuetter were thrown several feet and their Hudson touring car was badly damaged. Both suffered severe bruises.

LITTLE THIEVING AMONG SHOPPERS

Policeman Stationed At Shops
Find Crowds Honest
And Orderly

Only one day remains of the holiday shopping period and policemen will continue their watch on that day for Christmas shoplifting, petty thefts and amateur pickpocketing.

According to the observations of Chief George T. Prim, this year's Christmas shopping period has been especially orderly and void of the usual number of losses shoppers' parcels and purses.

Two incidents occurred on Thursday which were an interesting contrast to each other. It was a case of honesty versus negligence in the one instance, while the other was one of negligence plus something else.

A woman who had been shopping in one of the downtown stores observed the loss of her wrist watch and bracelet. When a search failed to reveal the missing property, it was later recovered in some cast off empty boxes, into which the wristwatch presumably had fallen.

In the other instance, in which the missing articles also were recovered, a man noticed the loss of his purse in one of the stores. This was found on another counter after a search but lacked about $11 of the amount it originally contained. The money later was found buried under a pile of gloves.

Emerson Turney of Kaukauna called on Appleton friends Friday.

NO DIPHTHERIA CASES THIS WEEK

Appleton's diphtheria epidemic has according to all indications passed the peak and is now on the decline. No new cases of that disease have been reported this week to Dr. W. C. Felton, city health commissioner.

The number of cases quarantined will be lessened when two or three families will receive a Christmas present in the form of a release. In the case of other families in which the patients have recovered cultures are being taken almost daily, but most of these are still found to be positive.

Costs Next to Nothing—for a Big Supply

Whenever anyone in my family catches cold and begins to cough and sneeze, and haw and breathe heavy, it doesn't take me many minutes to fix up a remedy that will drive away all such troubles in double quick time.

It's no secret—anyone can make a half pint of the finest cough medicine in the world for a trifling sum. Get from any druggist one ounce of Peppermint (double strength)—to this add a little granulated sugar and enough water to make one half pint—that's all there is to it.

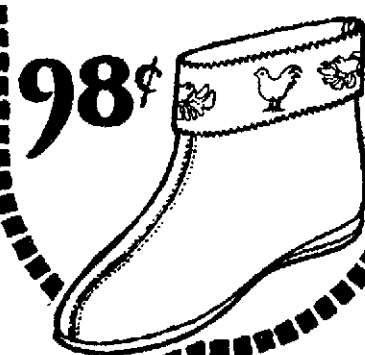

But now you've got a real medicine—mind you—the first spoonful you take acts directly on the membrane of the throat and nose, the tickling ceases almost instantly—the inflammation begins to disappear—up comes the stubborn mucus and often in 24 hours every trace of the cough that frightened you is gone.

It's really remarkable how this home made remedy acts on the mucous membrane and that is one reason it is so helpful to thousands of Catarrh sufferers.

INVITE PUBLIC TO LOOK OVER BRIDGE PLANS

on an angle from Lawest hill to Vulcan-st., will be a 7-span bridge of 45 feet each with a 20-foot roadway and a 6-foot sidewalk. The road will be about the same width as the Asylum-rd and will permit three vehicles to pass each other side by side. O. F. Weissgerber, city engineer, said.

4 PER CENT GRADE

Lawest bridge will be built of reinforced concrete and will be slightly more than 394 feet long, not considering the length of the approaches. The hill has a 10 per cent grade, and the incline on the bridge will be less than 4 per cent.

Alderman Lappen who was not present at the meeting when the percentage of the grade and the level were decided upon raised the question if the climb up the hill would be too steep. The committee therefore Thursday evening instructed the city engineer to prepare plans showing the incline of both the hill and the bridge. It was suggested that the steepness of the hill could be reduced by grading it considerably.

More interest was apparently attached to the proposed Cherry-st viaduct which will reach from bluff to bluff. The bridge proper between abutments will be 878 feet long. It will consist of nine spans. The spans over the government canal, which are No. 6 and 7, will be built on a skew. Engineer Weissgerber explained, or on an angle with the stream. A 90-foot clearance will be provided for in the government channel.

Where the bridge will cross the Milwaukee railroad bridge, between spans 4 and 5, the clearance above mean water will be nearly 63 feet, and that above the highest stage of high water the river had last spring will be 59 feet and 7 inches. This, it is said, will not interfere with navigation at any time in the season.

The viaduct will be a steel structure with a concrete top, brick pavement and concrete piers. It will have a 32 foot roadway with a 7-foot walk. Steel rails with lattice work will be fitted on each side. The grade will be about 2.3 per cent up to spans 5 and 6, with a dead level across the channel for about 210 feet, and then 2.87 per cent to the terminus. The abutment at the Northwestern railroad track will be odd-shaped because the track is on an angle. The longest steel girders will run from 103 to 111 feet, the shorter ones being upwards of 92 feet.

The plans show a pipe gallery on one side of the bridge which in the future may be used for telephone conduits or gas and water mains. At the center of the bridge will be a resting station for pedestrians.

World Will Celebrate While Mail Carrier Toils

Laggard Public Makes Christmas Hardest Day Of Year At Postoffice

If anybody thinks carrying mail is a lazy man's job, let him drop his work and try carrying mail either in the city or in rural districts at Christmas time.

Letter carriers are among the very few who have to work on the one day that almost all civilization has come to regard as the supreme holiday of the year.

It is a job of such a nature that the employing of substitutes and extra help cannot perfectly remedy the situation; hence, while every one is making merry, the carrier must swing his pack over his shoulder. His load is heavier on this day as he starts over his regular route. In order that others may be made happy through the delivery of eleventh-hour gifts, carriers must work, regardless if the temperature is many degrees below zero.

All the world sympathizes with them on Christmas morning. It is even possible that the stragglers feel a bit of remorse and resolve to begin their Christmas shopping earlier next year in order that they may mail their parcels earlier. When Christmas comes again, it is more likely that they will be procrastinating again.

Because of these conditions, it has often been expressed that if the department would simply make Christmas a holiday, mail patrons would then fall into the habit of mailing their Christmas parcels early.

Surprise

Greeting Chamber of Commerce is Sending to More Than 1,200 Tourists who visited Appleton is Reminder City Has not Forgotten Them.

More than 1,200 tourist parties which visited Appleton during the last summer perhaps think the city forgot about them when their cars departed, but Christmas will furnish an agreeable surprise.

Each of the homes thus represented will receive an attractive Christmas card from the chamber of commerce extending the compliments of the season. The card invites all to visit the city and avail themselves of its camping equipment and information bureau on the next automobile trip. Signatures of Lothar G. Graef, president, Hugh G. Corbett, managing secretary, and George Merkel, supervisor of the municipal campsite at Alliecia park appear on the greeting.

The chamber of commerce has maintained a tourist registry both at its office and at Alliecia park, and in this way has obtained names of all who camped overnight and others who stopped for information. Mr. Corbett is compiling a report showing how many states are represented by the registry.

Newsboys Like Tricks By Finkelle

Delightful Program Is Furnished
At Annual Post-Crescent
Banquet

After their annual banquet at the Y. M. C. A. at 8:30 Thursday evening, 23 Post-Crescent newsboys from Appleton, Kaukauna, Kimberly, Little Chute, Combined Locks and Waverly beach were delighted with a program of magic and mystery by Finkelle, the society trickster. The magician, who is Dr. R. C. Finkelle of Seymour in private life, kept the boys interested and mystified for a half hour while he performed one sleight of hand performance after another.

Several of the tricks "got by big" with the boys, while they thought they saw through others. The doctor showed them afterwards how some of the tricks were done. Perhaps the favorite of the evening was the Finkelle, just finishing a card stunt trick felt around the back of his neck to see if any more cards were there and pulled out several links of sausage. The coin trick in which he took coins from behind the boys' ears, off their heads, out of their pockets and finally about 30 of them out of one boy's nose also was popular. Dr. Finkelle said afterwards that the boys were a very keen audience.

The Rev Paul Keicher was the speaker of the evening. He emphasized the fact that those who will succeed must get close to their jobs with enthusiasm by getting the idea of doing service for someone else. He said service was the big thing for the carriers to work for, not for the money at the end of each week. He said that the successful carrier is the one who folds each paper carefully and throws it where the customer can get it easily and where the wind will not blow it away.

Joseph Horner, Jr., circulation manager of the Green Bay Press-Gazette, gave a short introductory talk at the beginning of the program.

PARTIES

About 15 little tots were present at the Christmas party Thursday afternoon in First Methodist church given by the beginners department. A program consisting of recitations and songs was presented and Mrs. H. W. Meyer, Jr., told Christmas stories and led in playing games. Bags of candy were given to the children before they departed. The mothers of the youngsters were their guests.

Industrial Hollow school, town of Center, will close for the holidays with a Christmas program to be given in the school Friday evening. Miss Viola Miller is the teacher.

Badger school of Grand Chute, of which Miss Florence Keating is teacher, closed for the Christmas vacation with a program Thursday afternoon.

A box social and Christmas program were given Thursday evening at Triangle school, Grand Chute, of which Miss Mary Heenan is teacher. The school is closed until after the holidays.

Miss Mary E. Trowbridge entertained at a dinner party Wednesday evening at Ormsby hall. Twenty-three persons were entertained.

TESTED RECIPES

The holiday season is the time when every housewife uses citron, as well as candied orange and lemon peel, in making cakes, puddings and other desserts. Of course, these dishes are just as good in other months as they are in mid-winter, but the holiday period is the one when candied peel is most in evidence in the kitchen. Did you know that the dictionary gives, as one meaning of zest, "a piece of lemon or orange peel." Here are some recipes that use this very zestful and healthful fruit.

ENGLISH WALNUT CAKE

1/2 cup of butter
3 eggs
2 cups sifted flour
1 cup granulated sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon lemon extract
1/2 cup milk
1 cup chopped walnuts
2 tablespoons chopped maraschino cherries
1 tablespoon chopped citron
1 tablespoon chopped orange peel
1 tablespoon chopped lemon peel
1/2 cup powdered sugar
Beat yolks of eggs with granulated sugar until light yellow. Cream butter and mix in. Sift baking powder alternately with milk. Beat the whites of two of the eggs and fold in; do not, however, beat after the flour is added or grain will be coarse. Stir in the lemon extract. Turn into cake pan lined with greased paper and sprinkle nuts on top of batter. Bake 30 minutes in medium oven. Beat remaining egg white stiff, adding the powdered sugar little by little, and the vanilla. Spread on top of the cake and sprinkle with the chopped fruit, peel and citron.

MARBLE CAKES

1 cup brown sugar
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon grated nutmeg
1-2 teaspoon mace
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1/2 cup candied orange peel
1/2 cup candied lemon peel
1/2 cup citron
1 tablespoon orange juice
1/2 tablespoon grated orange peel
2 egg yolks
2 egg whites

Baptists To Present Yule Drama

Biblical Story Of Search For Christ Told In Play
Tonight

Preparations have been completed for the Biblical drama, "The Birth of Christ," to be given at 8 o'clock Friday evening in the Baptist church by the Young Married Peoples club. The play tells the story of the ancient appearance of the star which had been the fulfillment of a prophecy, of the awakening of the shepherds, the journey of the wise men and finally the joy when the Child was found in the manger at Bethlehem as it had been said He would be found.

The play has very few musical parts as the story is told almost entirely by acting and reading. The persons taking the parts have spent a great deal of time in perfecting them and every effort has been made to secure appropriate costumes.

HIGH SCHOOL PAPER HAS NEW FEATURES

Prize Winning Christmas Story Is Given Prominence In Oriole

Kaukauna—The Christmas number of the High school Oriole was distributed to students Thursday afternoon. The paper contains, among other things, a Christmas story by Helen Arps, winner of the contest put on by the Oriole staff. Five students entered the contest. Enola VanLeishout, Eleanor Dietzler, Curtis Beier, Roy Darline and Helen Arps. The winner will be presented with the prize in the near future. The paper is larger than previous issues.

Each class has a section in which news of interest to its members may be found. The information bureau is interesting and several students offered answers to the question "What is your opinion of the present day chivalry?" A typical answer to the important question is "I think the spirit of chivalry is decayed because the present day flapper is well able to take care of herself and chivalry is not necessary." Next month's question will be "What New Year's resolution did you make?"

TUG AMES TOO OLD; MUST SINK IN LAKE

Boat Well Known In Pulpwood
Shipping Is Condemned
By U. S.

The tug J. C. Ames, owned by the Newaygo Tug Line, Wisconsin Rapids, formerly of Appleton, has been condemned by government inspectors and will be sunk in the lake outside of Manitowish, where the tug has been operating for several months, and where the engines are now being removed.

The Ames was built in 1882, and was one of the largest tugs on the lakes, being 160 feet long and with a 29-foot beam. In the early days she was known as the Perritt, and towed five barges in the lumber trade between Menominee and Chicago.

With passing of the lumber business the tug passed into other hands and for several years towed a car ferry between Peshtigo and South Chicago. Later she passed into ownership of the Nau Tug Line of Green Bay and engaged in towing pulpwood rafts on Lake Superior. In recent years the tugs became the property of its present owners and continued in pulpwood towing.

Many interesting accounts could be written of the storms that the Ames has weathered during its career of towing the five lumber barges and car ferry and battling the elements with big pulpwood rafts.

GOOD FELLOW'S HONOR ROLL

I am very much afraid that the Good Fellows club will not succeed in raising the $1,500, which it set as its goal when the annual Christmas appeal was started. This sum was fixed because that much money will be required to provide a Christmas for all the poor families of Appleton. Contributions up until noon today totaled only $1,075.50, leaving $425 still to be collected. It still is possible to raise that much money if Good Fellows who have not made their contributions will get busy at once.

Several hundred dollars worth of clothing and toys has been delivered to Red Cross headquarters in the Armory. This is a great help. It now is up to us to raise the $425 to make up the $1,500 and then we can be sure there will be no families in Appleton without something to be thankful for on Christmas day.

STRONG SPEAKERS ON PROGRAM FOR BUILDER MEETING

Important Legal Questions Will Be Considered At Convention Here

Some strong speakers will be on the program of Wisconsin Association of Master Builders when its annual state convention is held here Jan. 10, 11 and 12, according to the plans now in the making by the committee of which Martin Bole is chairman.

One of these will be H. L. Ekern, Madison, attorney general-elect, who will take up matters of insurance. He was one of the men having an important part in organization of the Builders Mutual Casualty company, an auxiliary to the state association.

H. A. Wagner of Milwaukee, president of Wisconsin Building and Iron company will speak on the topic, "Should Contract Labor Be Licensed?"

DISCUSS JOB INSURANCE

In the big public meeting at Lawrence Memorial chapel on Thursday afternoon, Jan. 11, both sides of the proposed law for unemployment insurance will be taken up. One address will be given by H. A. Huber, state senator from Stoughton, in support of it. The senator is the legislator who is introducing the bill and is pushing its passage. A second speaker will discuss the disadvantages of the bill. He is F. H. Clausen of Horicon, president of VanBrunt Manufacturing company.

Federal income tax laws and decisions then will be reviewed in a talk by Burt Williams, former collector of internal revenue.

KINSMAN TO SPEAK

Dr. D. O. Kinsman of Appleton will speak at the opening session on Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 10 and a joint meeting of the association and the insurance company will follow. Directors of the state organization will meet in the morning.

On Wednesday evening there is to be a theater party and dance. Reports of officers will be presented Thursday morning.

The grand convention banquet is to be held Thursday evening in Eagle hall, which will be headquarters for all sessions except that of Thursday afternoon. E. H. Davidson, St. Paul, head of the Citizens Alliance, is to be the speaker.

Friday will be devoted to conferences, a windup of business matters and an observation trip through one of the papermills.

SING YULE SONGS AT CHURCH MOVIE

"One Man in a Million" is the title of the motion picture which will be shown at the community performances at the Congregational church at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon and 7:30 in the evening.

The Rev. C. W. Cross, associate pastor, plans to tell the children Christmas stories at the matinee, after which there will be singing of Christmas songs.

Community singing of the favorite yuletide songs also is planned as a feature of the evening program. The other films include a cartoon comedy and a Japanese travelog picture.

GIVE 13 PRIZES IN PICTURE CONTEST

Some Of City Views Wanted For Publicity Still Are Lacking

Thirteen prizes of $3 each have been presented by Appleton Advertising club and the chamber of commerce to those whose pictures in the recent story-of-Appleton photographic contest did not earn the major awards, yet were acceptable for publicity uses.

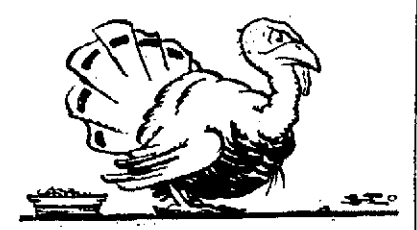

Five pictures submitted by Harvey Schlitz were accepted, including city, industrial and rural scenes. Four entered by Ewald E. Rennert, two by Frank Koch, and one each by J. B. Goodrich and Edward A. Roettcher also were among the winners.

It was the aim of the contest to secure a collection of photographs representative of almost every phase of city and rural life and descriptive of the city's buildings and advantages, but some of the classifications were not covered by the contestants. The two organizations therefore intend to designate just what is wanted to complete the collection and will have these pictures taken.

Arrangements then will be made to issue a new set of souvenir postcards, in natural colors as produced by an

Gobblers Drop Slightly From Previous Price

Turkeys are selling all the way from 40 to 55 cents per pound which is slightly cheaper than they were at Thanksgiving time. The meat markets are well supplied and do not expect to run short notwithstanding demand is heavy. The demand is due to many manufacturing plants and business firms buying them in large quantities and presenting them to their employees on Christmas day.

The call for chickens and geese is heavier also than at Thanksgiving time. The prices of each range from 25 to 30 cents according to quality. There is no apparent shortage of either.

Artist. New booklets possibly will be published also, and other literature planned so as to give the city wider and more explicit publicity.

BULLOCK SHARING IN NEW BOYS' CAMP

Former Appleton Man One Of Organizers Of Badger Recreation Spot

A new boys outing spot, Camp Mishike, is to be opened in the northern woods of Wisconsin next summer, in which Warren B. Bullock, formerly on the editorial staff of the Crescent, has an important part.

The camp is to be fostered by Dr. Hugh P. Baker, former dean of the New York state college of forestry and now secretary of American Pulp and Paper association, by Mr. Bullock, who is director of publicity of the same association, and W. A. Sanderson, well known director of summer camps.

The advantages of the camp will be educational as well as recreational. Boys between the ages of 11 and 17 years will be given training in forestry during a period of two months beginning July 1. The camp is located in Vilas-co on Mishike, Rainbow and Rock lakes and covers an area of 1,600 acres.

A similar camp has been successfully operated in the Adirondacks.

Prattle vs. Truth

For some time past you have had opportunities to read many hectic advertisements published by one of our competitors, in which an attempt was made to establish the fact that all gasolines except one were "untrue." That these alleged "untrue" gasolines were "kerosenish" mixtures—that to use such a gasoline meant disaster—all of which was a smoke-screen intended to stem the inevitable—until the time when would be made known, and this is the time. The manufacture of gasoline has been developed from a hit or miss process—which gave only what the crude had to give—to a scientifically developed practice which takes from the crude whatever naphtha products the consumer requires.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) in its manufacturing practices has kept pace with the advancement of knowledge. It has grasped every new development that has been proved worthy by exhaustive test and has incorporated it into its refining practices, and has given the resulting benefits to the public.

Of all the refinements which have come out of the scientific laboratories during the past 30 years, the most significant, the most far-reaching and the most useful has been the world-famous Burton Process, now acknowledged to be the most successful process yet devised for transforming the heavier fractions of petroleum into those highly volatile compounds which are needful in the manufacture of good gasoline.

When the process was first devised, it was referred to as a "cracking" process because it resulted in the breaking up of heavier compounds and converting them into other more volatile compounds.

The Burton Process has been in successful operation in the refineries of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) for the past nine years, during which time this Company has manufactured and sold upwards of two billion gallons of cracked gasoline. That the gasoline made by this process is as efficient as that made by ordinary distillation of crude is attested by no less an authority than the Bureau of Mines, which stated in a Department of Interior Bulletin: "There is reason to believe, instead of being inferior, the cracked gasolines are really superior for use in automobile engines as regards both mileage and power obtainable."

The observations and experiments of our own research men confirm these findings.

All motor gasolines manufactured by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) are made at least in part by the Burton Process. This is one reason why our famous Red Crown Gasoline has won so favorable a reputation for uniformity, purity, economy and efficiency, for, because of this process, we have been able to control the quality of the necessary boiling point fractions and to have always ready the stocks from which to manufacture a gasoline of standard specification. Red Crown has long been the peer of gasolines. Now comes its companion, also a product of scientific refining—

SANTA CLAUS DID IT

Last evening as I was passing the corner of Laws and North-sts. I saw about a pound of mixed candy lying on the sidewalk. It had evidently been spilled accidentally. A little later two small boys, aged about six and four years, were picking up the candy. The older of the two remarked: "That's what Santa Claus does."

A DIME FOR CLEVERNESS

While shopping in Pettibone's store Monday, I spied a little girl about eight years old following a lady. At first the lady didn't seem to mind thinking the little girl wanted to see the toys, but at last she got nervous and asked the girl what she wanted. The girl said she lived in Kimberly and lost her car fare so she couldn't get home, so she wanted a dime. The lady thought it strange so young a child should be alone and didn't believe her story but she gave her the dime for being so clever.

ANOTHER VERSION

About 5:30 Wednesday evening, as I was walking along North-st. I saw two little boys, about 5 years old, kneeling on the sidewalk. I wondered what they were up to but looking down I saw a lot of small, hard candies scattered on the snow and they were busily picking it up. One of the boys exclaimed "Ain't we lucky dogs!" Evidently they thought Santa Claus had put the candy there.

GET LIFT FROM JUNK MAN

I spied a couple walking down Appleton-st from the depot with several grips just as a junk man came along with his wagon. The man went out and got him to agree to take them to their destination. He climbed onto the wagon, but the woman could not make the grade. The man, the junk dealer and the bags drove off and left the woman to continue her journey alone.

FORGOT HER BABY

Thursday P. M. while waiting in Kresge's store for a friend, I saw a young woman come in wheeling a cart in which was a sleeping child, perhaps one year old. She made some purchases and then went on out to shop farther, leaving the sleeping child.

In a short time the child awakened, and cried lustily. A middle-aged woman took the child and endeavored to quiet it, but it appeared frightened, and only screamed the louder.

After some time the mother came back, considerably excited and said "Oh! I forgot I brought baby along this afternoon and I had started for home." It was hard to tell which was the most relieved when the mother appeared, the child or the self-appointed nurse.

BOOK AT C. OF C. SHOWS HIGH GOVERNMENT COST

Some idea of the cost of government in Wisconsin, other states and in the United States as a whole may be gained from a new book issued by the National Industrial Conference board. A copy of the publication has been received by the chamber of commerce and has been added to its civic reference library.

The book is entitled, "Taxation and Net Income." It compares taxation for possibly ten years back and shows that the cost of running governments has soared into huge figures. Tabulations are given showing comparisons of taxes in various states for long periods. Charts accompany the text matter, showing valuable statistics.

WANT TO DISMANTLE OLD BLACK CREEK SPUR TRACK

A hearing was held before the Wisconsin railroad commission at Menasha today relative to a request that permission be given to dismantle a spur track running into an abandoned sawmill at Black Creek. Testimony in the case was expected to be completed this morning.

Autos Collide

A collision at Appleton and Lawrence-sts. at about 1:15 Friday afternoon between a Ford automobile owned by Emil Brown of Sugar Bush, and a Hudson car driven by John O'Leary, 939 Eighth-st., Appleton, resulted in damages to both cars. The front axle of the Brown car was thrown out of line and the left front fender of the Hudson car was bent.

Boys Visit Mills

The sophomore group of the Boys Brigade of Neenah was taken on an educational tour through the Appleton Woolen mills and Valley Iron works last week. Monday evening the freshman group attended a meeting of the Neenah city council. Other educational features are included in the winter program of the organization.

LOTS OF NEAR ACCIDENTS

The 5:30 freight train was approaching on the track near the city dump and was not more than 50 feet from a hand car on the same track. The two employees on the hand car tried to remove the car from the track, but could not get it off in time. They jumped onto the hand car and one pumped for "dear life" while the other lit a danger signal. The engineer stopped his train so that they could remove the hand car. It gave those of us who were watching a breathless minute or two.

M. G.

SHE LAUGHED; HE GOT MAD

Thursday afternoon a Lawrence college couple was strolling down College-ave and when they got in front of Armory G, the fellow decided to take a slide on a strip of ice. The fellow proved too slippery for his "dancing shoes" and down he went. His companion was convulsed with laughter, which seemed to annoy the fellow terribly. He got up scowling, but just as he seemed about to make a remark, the incident struck him funny too, and he joined the girl in her laughter.

50-50 ACCIDENTS

At 2:30 Thursday afternoon "I spied" two Ford cars come together at the foot of John Street Hill.

A coupe bearing license No. 327441 was coming out from the "Tissue Mill" and when directly in the center of the road was struck by a Touring car with license No. 78739 coming down the hill. The occupants of both cars were uninjured and the damage to the touring car was slight but both rear wheels were knocked off of the coupe.

The drivers consented to 50-50 with the expense of repairing the coupe as both were to blame for the accident.

HA HA, IT WAS ONLY A PENNY

A group of women were talking in front of Geenen's store on Wednesday evening when one of them dropped a coin. They looked for it, but could not find it. Two young girls saw them looking for something and saw that they did not find it before all the women went into the store. The two girls continued to look and found it, only to learn that they had taken all that trouble for a penny.

GIVES SMALL BOY CIGARET

A fellow smoking a cigaret skated up to a boy about 12 years old at Jones park on Wednesday afternoon and said: "Let me take your skate key, will yuh?" The boy replied: "I ain't got none," but when the older fellow said: "I'll give yuh a cigaret if yuh hand over that key." The youngster grinned, the exchange was made and the little boy skated off smoking the cigaret.

J. P. R.

BOWLED HIM OUT

The driver of a milk truck turned around on College-ave, between State and Cherry-sts Wednesday and while doing so a touring car headed west struck his truck from the rear. Both drivers alighted instantly to inspect their vehicles and the driver of the touring car lost no time in reprimanding the truck driver for his violation of the rules governing the driving of motor vehicles. Neither vehicle was damaged.

The People's Aid: Hundreds of Men and Women as well as boys and girls are forced to quit skating or skate in the dark, because one man refuses to remain a half hour or hour longer at Jones park. Skating after dark is dangerous, due to the number of cracks in the ice. This condition could easily be remedied by connecting the two lights to the street circuit, as is done in the First ward rink. This idea, I am sure, is the opinion of all the skaters who flock by hundreds to Jones park rink after supper.

W. A. B.
Answer: Jones park rink differs from other ice rinks because, being located in a park, it is under the jurisdiction of the board of public works. A request for connecting the lights with the street circuit should be presented to that body. The lights at the rink are usually turned out at about 10 or 10:30, which ought to be late enough for most people. The change in the lighting system would be somewhat expensive.
O. F. Weissgerber, city engineer.

BEG PARDON

The rest room that is closed for the winter is the one in City park and not that in the city hall, as was stated in Thursday evening's Post-Crescent.

A Christmas tree occupies the center of the floor of the Y. M. C. A. lobby. It was placed there by the dormitory men for their Christmas celebration at 10 o'clock Thursday evening. As there are 75 roomers at the Y. M. C. A. and each is to receive a gift, the tree promises to be heavily loaded.

Gosford's face became expressionless like wood, his body rigid; then he stood up and faced the three men across the table.

"Quite so," he said in his vacuous English voice. "Marshall wrote a 3 by inadvertence and changed it. He borrowed my pen knife to erase the figure."

My father and Lewis gasped like men who see a panned-in beast slip out through an unimagined passage. There was silence. Then suddenly, in the strained stillness of the room, old Doctor Gaekel laughed. Gosford lifted his long pink face, with its crooked beard bringing out the ugly mouth.

"Why do you laugh, my good man?" he said.
"I laugh," replied Gaekel, "because a figure 5 can have so many colors." And now my father and Lewis were no less astonished than Mr. Gosford.

"Colors?" they said, for the changed figure in the will was black. "Why, yes," replied the old man, "it is very pretty."

He reached across the table and drew over Mr. Gosford's memorandum beside the will.

"You are progressive sir," he went on: "you write in iron-nutall ink, just made, commercially, in this year of 'fifty-six by Mr. Stephens. But we write here as Marshall wrote in 'fifty-four, with logwood."

He turned and fumbled in his little case of bottles.

"I carry a bit of acid for my people's indignations. It has other uses." He whipped out the stopper of his vial and dabbed Gosford's notes and Marshall's signature.

"See," he cried. "Your writing is blue, Mr. Gosford, and Marshall's red."

With an oath the trapped man struck Gaekel's hand. The vial fell and cracked on the table. The hydrochloric acid spread out over Marshall's will. And under the chemical the figure in the bequest of fifty thousand dollars changed beautifully; the bar of the 5 turned blue, and the remainder of it a deep purplered like the body of the will.

"Gaekel," cried my father, "you have trapped a rogue!"
"And I have lost a measure of good acid," replied the old man. And he began to gather up the bits of his broken bottle from the table.

The man's loose body seemed to have been packed into his clothing as though under a pressure. There was the vague note of victory in his voice.

"Monsieur," he said, "no dead Frenchman has ever been valued to us at less than fifty thousand francs. He may have been a worthless vendor of roasted chestnuts before the Madeleine, but if he died in Stamboul, he was straightway worth fifty thousand francs. You will observe, monsieur, that your government has already fixed the price for murder."

The Prefect of Police looked across the long, empty room at the closed door.
"But was this dead man a citizen of the Turkish Empire? We seem to have a memory of him."
The Oriental smiled.

"Citizens," he said, "are of two classes—your Foreign Office has laid it down—the citizen which is born, and the citizen which is acquired. Each are valued to us at least fifty thousand francs, as your schedule in the indemnities to the Sublime Porte so clearly set it out. Dernburg Pasha was acquired, monsieur. But he is dead. And the indemnity for him, as you have so admirably established it, is not subject to a discount. . . . You came from the Foreign Office, monsieur?"

The Prefect of Police bowed. He put his hand into the pocket of his coat as with a casual gesture, his fingers closing over an article that lay concealed there.

The Envoy went on:
"I found the Minister Deltaux of an unfailing courtesy; if a subject of our empire has been murdered in Paris, an adequate indemnity would be paid."

The scene at the Foreign Office, when he had been called in before the Minister, came up for an instant to Monsieur Jonquille. The tall, elegant old man had been profoundly annoyed. This murder came at a vexatious moment, at precisely the moment when the Foreign Office was pressing for the indemnity on the French subjects slain in Stamboul. The very argument had been unfortunate. Stamboul must be made safe, and here was Paris unsafe! Here was Dernburg Pasha dead in the Faubourg St. Germain.

Monsieur Jonquille had made no reply to the Minister. He had come down to the house in the Faubourg St. Germain of Paris; he had gone over it; he had examined everything; but he had made no comment. Either he had arrived at no conclusions, or else he had a large knowledge of the affair, coupled with some definite plan.

It was an old house, maintaining in its essentials a departed elegance. The floor of the drawing-room was of alternate blocks of white and black marble, laid down like a chess-board. There was a door at one end leading into a small-walled garden. On the other side of the drawing-room, directly opposite, there was another door of precisely the same character leading into a sort of library—the room in which Dernburg had been found in the morning, dead on the floor.

To the Envoy of the Turkish Government in Paris this assassination had the aspect of a diplomatic flavor. He had gone at once to the Foreign Office with his demand for an indemnity, and then he had come here into this drawing-room and sat down before the door until the matter should be settled.

"Monsieur is satisfied?" he said.

"He has seen everything," replied Monsieur Jonquille, his glance traveling to the slight bulge in the man's tight-fitting waistcoat pocket. "but I am entirely satisfied."

"The evidences are complete, monsieur," said the Envoy, smiling. "Dernburg Pasha lived alone in this house. Late last night a Frenchman called on him. They were in the room yonder together. The windows were open, although the shutters were closed. Persons passing on the street heard the voices distinctly—the voice of a Frenchman, monsieur, and the voice of Dernburg Pasha. Is it not true?"

"Unfortunately, monsieur, we cannot deny it. It is precisely the truth."

"And it cannot be denied that Dernburg Pasha is dead. He was found this morning on the floor of the library yonder, with his throat cut—monsieur has himself observed the indicative evidences of this assassination. . . . The late visitor—he looked up sharply—"monsieur admits that he was a Frenchman?"

"Ah, yes," replied the Prefect of Police, "the man was a Frenchman."

The Envoy went on with his summary of the evidence.

"The late visitor, a Frenchman, the quarrel; the dead man remaining in the library; the spots of blood on this floor that dripped from the weapon in the assassin's hand as he went out—he escaped from the door yonder into the garden and thence into the street; it is all certain, monsieur."

"It is all very certain," replied the Prefect. He paused—then:
"But while the events are certain, I am not precisely certain that we have the same conception of them. For example, monsieur, will you tell me how, in your opinion, the assassin escaped from the garden into the street? This garden was not used; the gate leading into the street is nailed up. I should be glad of your opinion on this point."

"With pleasure," replied the Oriental.
"The man escaped from the garden in the simplest fashion. He climbed over the wall, monsieur. The wall is of no great height. It is entirely possible."

Monsieur Jonquille lifted his eyebrows like one relieved from a perplexity.

"Quite possible," he said. "An assassin could have climbed over the wall without the slightest difficulty. I am obliged for your opinion on this manner of escape, monsieur."

For a moment he seemed to reflect; then he addressed another question to the Envoy.

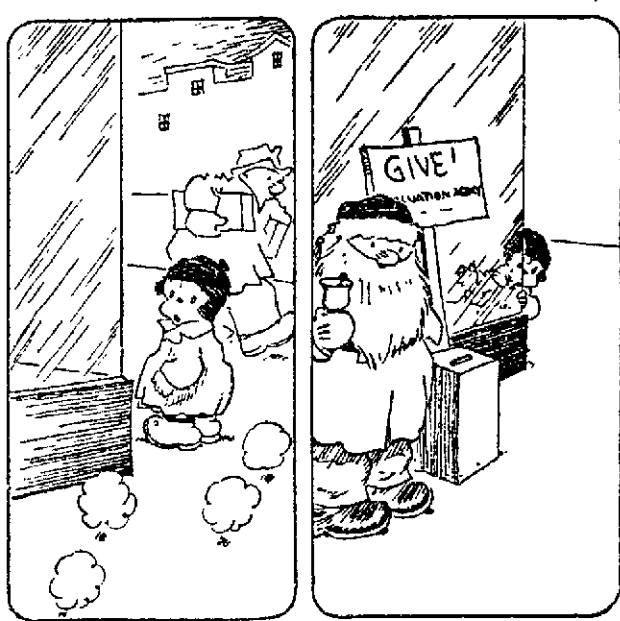

"Monsieur," he said, "there are blood-drops dripped from the point looked down at the marble extending to the closed door of the library beyond them. 'I should be glad to know how you think they came here.'"

LAWRENCE HEAPS BASKETS ON MILTON; SCORE 39 TO 13

STRATEGY HALTS SHOOTING STREAK OF VISITING TEAM

Blue And White Uses Short Passes And Shots From Middle Of Floor To Win

Playing a short passing game, Lawrence college basketball team buried the Milton college five under a shower of baskets in the Armory Thursday night. Lawrence was a victor by a score of 39 to 13.

Starting off rather clumsily, both teams tossed the ball about for a short time. The Blue and White drew first blood when Kotal shot the oval for two points. Not to be outdone Milton cameback with baskets and in a short time a caging duel was on. Lawrence led early and McNitt shot the ball through the net three times. Kepler and Hill also got a basket apiece. The score was 10 to 10 and it looked as if Milton would continue to chalk down more markers when Capt. Basing resorted to a bit of strategy and asked for rest. The team needed it, but the principal reason for taking time out was to break the winning streak of McNitt.

LAWRENCE COMES BACK

With seven minutes left to play for the first half, Lawrence came back fresh and with better spirit. The basket, from then on the players relied on the short passes they had practiced since the Stevens Point contest and had the Miltonites baffled. The Blue and White shot four more baskets and the score was 18 to 10 when the timekeeper announced that the first half was over.

Kotal and Grover made three baskets apiece and Kotal had two free throws to his credit in the first stanza. Collins and Basing made a field goal each.

ALL BLUE AND WHITES

The second half was all Lawrence's as far as shooting was concerned. The Blue and White team piled up one basket after another while the Keplers field goal and Hill's free throw was all that went for the Miltonites.

Grover, playing center, was the star of the game. He tallied 13 points. Kotal came next with 12 markers. Coach McChesney rushed in a host of substitutes toward the end while the Milton pilot only sent in one man.

Shots from the middle of the floor by Basing and Kotal were plentiful and furnished a bit of thrill. McNitt, ranking a foot to six inches shorter than his teammates, was the star for the first half. His shots from difficult angles brought him a hand from the gallery. However, McNitt failed to be the "bear" in the balance of the contest. His shots were somewhat off although he tried several times.

With the exception of the number of fumbles it was a well played game. Dr. Fay was referee.

MARQUETTE STUDENTS IN DRIVE FOR STADIUM

Milwaukee—"We will buy the grounds if you will build the stadium," is the challenge of the Marquette university student body to the alumni.

Students representing every department of the school, have formulated plans to gather together by subscription $30,000 in a whirlwind campaign. This money will be used to buy a site for the proposed stadium, which will be built by the alumni.

The alumni plan to raise $65,000 with which they will erect one stand to seat 10,000 people. The other stands which will finish the big arena which will be built later. Present plans have it that the big bleacher will be built for the opening of the 1923 football season.

Department rivalry has stepped in and indications are that the students will work hard to put their department first. Each student who contributes will wear a button after the actual cash is paid in to show his loyalty. Student pledges are being collected this week, and the amount of gift 1.

The race in the Elks Thursday Night league for first honors is principally between the Miamis, Navajos and Quinneys. The contest thus far is so close that nearly every week finds a different team perched on the top and the next two teams in a tie. Failure of the Miamis to bowl Thursday night didn't hurt them any as the Navajos, which were tied last week for first place went down a notch as the result of the beating given to them by the Quinneys. The Quinneys took two games out of three and put themselves into a tie for second place.

BROWNS, LUTHERAN LEAGUE, WIN AGAIN

Bowlers In Brotherhood Wheel Shoot Many Scores Of Over 200

City's Evergreen Dress Radiates Holiday Spirit

Out door decoration of Appleton for the Christmas holidays never has been carried out as extensively as this year. The stranger feels the yuletide spirit abroad the moment he reaches the business section.

Lighting posts adorned with Christmas trees provided by the merchants and put up by boy scouts resemble rows of tall fir trees. The tinsel with which the branches are loaded glitters in the sunshine and at night when the lights are burning.

Soon the community tree will be erected in the Oneida-st. parking square. This will be supplied with a large number of electric lights and will glow each evening until after New Years.

These public decorating plans provide a pleasing harmony with decorating that has been done in the stores. Christmas trees or evergreen wreaths or ropes have been used in decorating a number of fronts, while at other places trimmed trees are in show windows and are lighted evenings.

Mother Nature put on the finishing touch by coating the ground and buildings with snow and maintaining cold enough weather to keep it here. What with the bright displays of merchandise people say there never was such an atmosphere heralding the approach of the natal celebration as now.

ON THE SCREEN

Charles Ray has hit the bull's-eye again in his latest production, "Smudge," a First National attraction which began a 2 day engagement at the Elite Theatre today. It is a picture such as only Ray could make, for it is a tale of small town life, similar to those in which Ray made his reputation as a screen artist of rare talent.

Starting with a rush, the story unfolds rapidly and interestingly, with thrilling and exciting incidents following each other in such rapid succession that the spectator's attention never wavers. One of the most breathtaking of these is an automobile chase through the mountains, with the cars threading a narrow path, many times being on the verge of falling into the cavernous depths below.

The dramatic tale, however, is embellished with many touches of typical Ray humor. The story, which was written by Rob Wagner, popular Saturday Evening Post author, fits Ray to a nicety, and competent direction is visible throughout the entire photoplay.

"Smudge" is a picture of real life, and the actors appear to be living their part—not merely carrying them out like animated mannikins.

It is a picture you cannot afford to miss—if you like good screen entertainment.

New Zoning Ordinance

Madison's new zoning ordinance became effective upon publication in the official paper of that city. The measure was signed by Mayor I. M. Kittleson last week, and final revisions were checked Monday by the city clerk. The ordinance will restrict future building in various localities of the city in the future, according to definite classifications.

Chimney Fire

The home of Louis Schroeder, 493 Hancock-st., was the scene of a chimney fire about 6 o'clock Thursday evening, and a call was sounded for the fire department. The damage was nominal.

Where can you get Good Coffee?

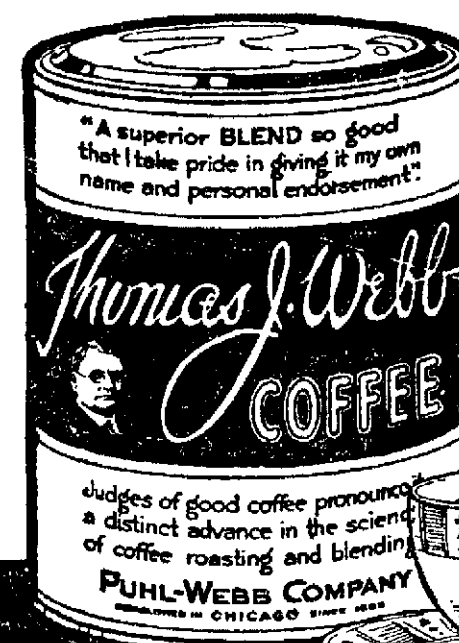

Why, at the Edgewater Beach Hotel in Chicago, when you sit at breakfast in their wonderful dining room with its low French windows looking out on the ever-changing lake; or when you have your after dinner coffee out on their lawn beneath the stars; that's where you get good coffee

Or you can get good coffee in your own home if you use the same coffee that the Edgewater Beach Hotel uses, which is Thomas J. Webb Coffee, of course.

Half the famous places in America where the coffee is so good as to make you remember it afterward are exclusively using Thomas J. Webb Coffee.

Order it now and have one of the chief delights of the Edgewater Beach in your own home. Your grocer has it.

MARRIED WOMEN FIGHT FOR JOBS

By Associated Press London—The fight against married women acting as school teachers in the public schools of England, which has been going on for some time reached a climax when sixty-four married women teachers were discharged from their duties in one of the London suburbs.

During the war married women were practically the only persons available for teaching, and since then they have kept their jobs despite the efforts of the veterans associations to have them expelled in order to allow ex-servicemen and nurses to resume their positions.

An attempt was made recently to exclude married women from teaching in the schools of Middlesex County but they were able to take the case to Chancery Court, asking for an injunction against the school authorities. The case still is pending. Efforts to have the married women excluded from the schools under the jurisdiction of the London County Council, however, have failed, and the Council has refused to pass a motion to this effect.

Science can help humanity by teaching the living of a natural life. "Of all the peoples I know, Americans lead the least natural existence. They are slaves of their labor, whether they be poor or rich. "This country needs more calm, more peaceful living and less of the rush."

BIBLICAL LAW "The days of our years," the Bible tells us, "are three-score years and ten."

A healthy life, especially in the open air, with exercise, good food, no vices, will help prolong life more than all the serums that ever could be invented.
